1

Take our free online clinical assessment.

YANA intelligently matches you with a doctor who will partner with you to get you the best treatment possible.

Via a live call, your doctor will evaluate your symptoms, diagnose you, and go over treatment options.

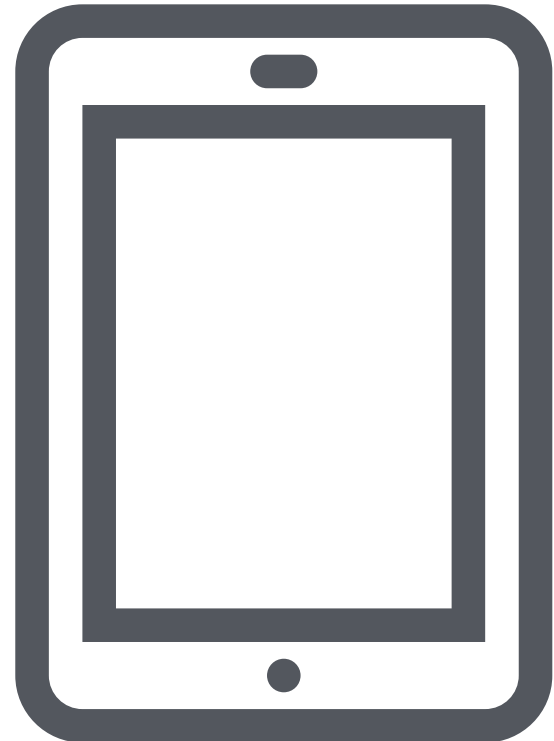

If you and your doctor agree that talk-therapy is right for you, a licensed therapist will be referred based on your needs. You control the scheduling, frequency, and length of your sessions through the YANA app.

If medication is something you and your doctor agree to, you will be prescribed and the medication will be discreetly delivered to your home.

YANA will periodically assess your mental wellness. Using both live and electronic tools, YANA makes it easy for you and your doctor to evaluate the effectiveness of your treatment.

OUR MISSION

Our mission is to ensure no one with depression goes untreated.

Nearly 40% of people suffering from depression never seek professional help because the path to treatment is overwhelming, expensive, uncomfortable, and inconvenient.

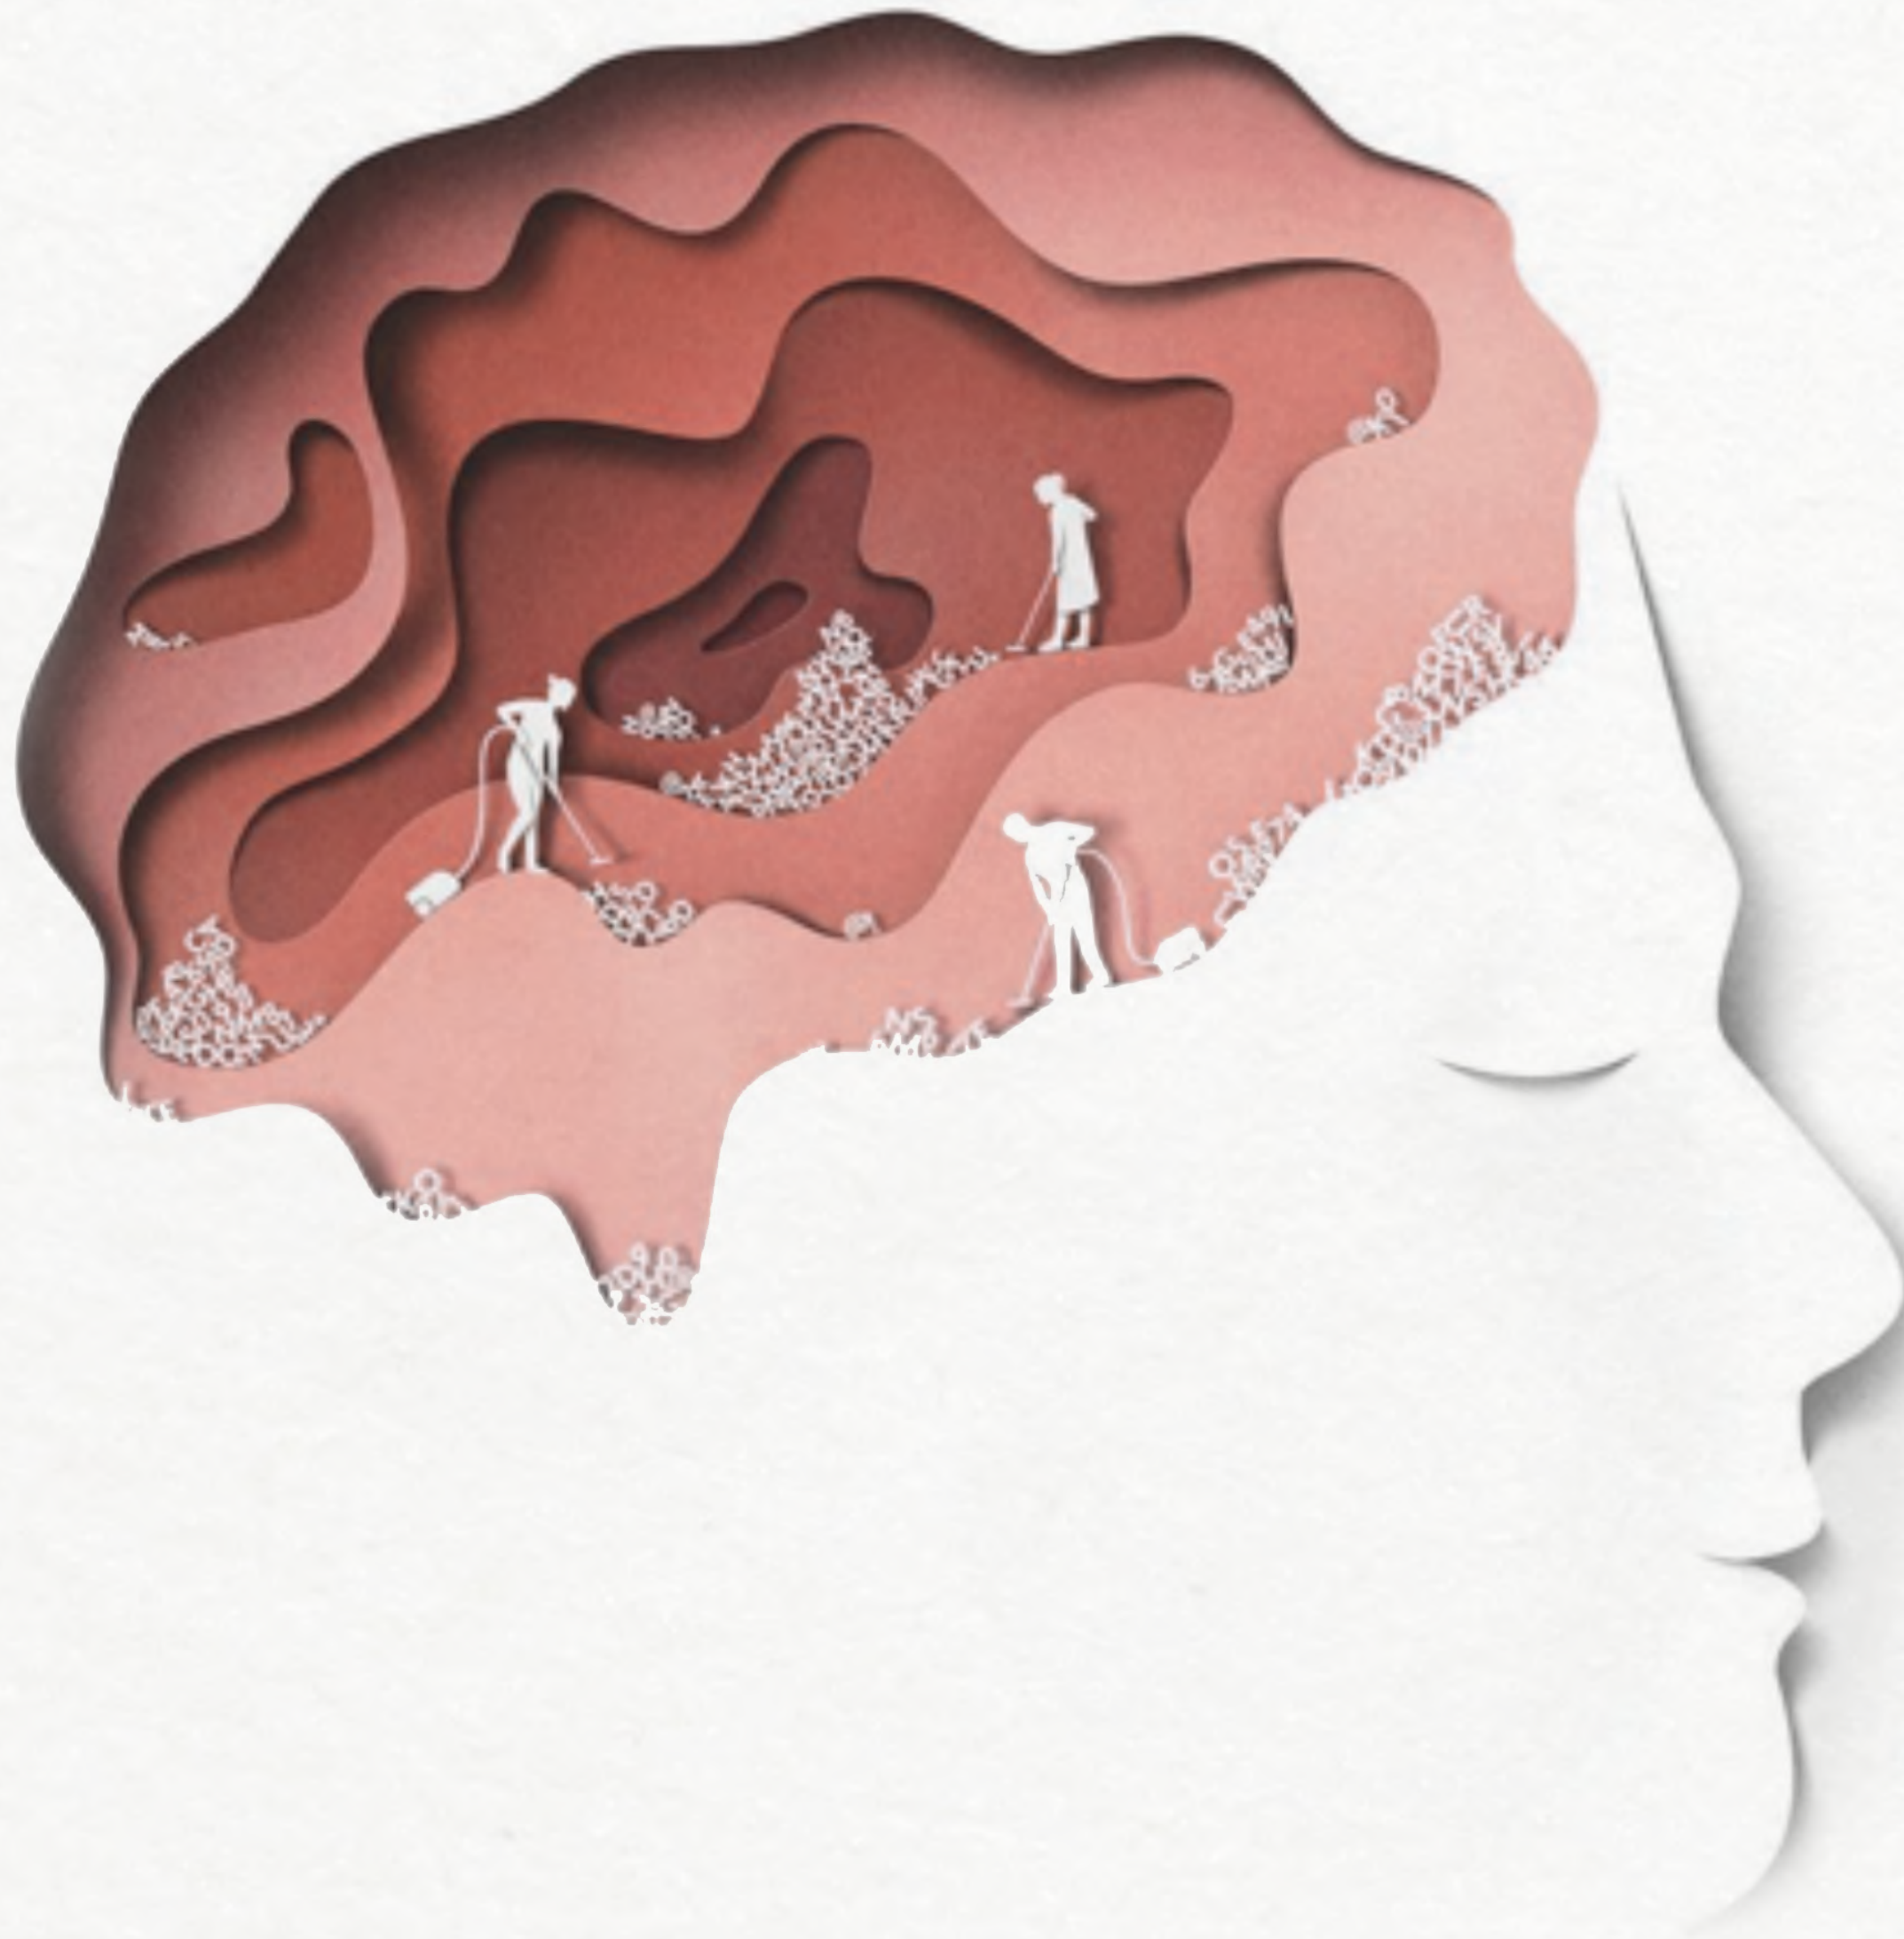

THE FUTURE

At YANA, we believe everyone deserves to be happy.

We imagine a world where mental health treatment is convenient, easily accessible, and affordable to all.

Doctors

Our Clinical Staff have been hand selected. They are licensed and fully accredited by Medical Boards. They have graduated from America's top Universities and have undergone a thorough credentialing process. Because YANA is virtual, we go above and beyond to make sure our subscribers are confident they are getting the best care available.

Health Insurance Eligible

Health insurance should cover mental health, right? The answer is not so simple. Mental health is often carved out of people's insurance plans. And when it is included, patients must have already met their annual deductible before insurance kicks in. Even after the deductible is met, there are still co-pays at doctor's offices and the cost of medication is also paid for when you get to the pharmacy.

We calculate that the cost of being a YANA member is similar to that of going through private insurance. But when you consider the convenience, there's no comparison.

Lastly, YANA's patients can download receipts with specialized billing codes expressed so that it can be sent directly to your insurance company for potential reimbursement.

SIMPLIFIED STORY EXPERIENCE

This rocket should be layered on the website with a parallax effect, so that when the user scrolls up, it moves down, and when the user scrolls down, the rocket takes off - representing the user's potential.

The website should be constructed in a way that it is one large mural made up of this layered construction style artwork.

The bottom of this piece should be the top of the next piece on the following page and as we scroll down the website, the colors used in the artworks should become brighter, giving the user a sense of comfort and hope as they learn about YANA.
